MOOD: grateful

Rabbit, rabbit.

(My wife took this. I may have been a little put out that somebody was the only one shoveling.)

Thank you

This is Patricia Andreoli, wife of Daphne Worth, who you all knew as Trollcatz. Daphne died

...And there goes the weekend

But hey, we got a day and a half of this one! And I got to sleep in for two whole mornings. Too bad

Happy New Year to you!! I'd offer to help shovel but (1) I'm on the far side of the country and (2) who am I kidding, I don't shovel even when I'm in a place where there's snow. Like your wife I take photos commemorating the herculean labors of the people who shovel, lest we forget.

I shoveled snow for the first time in my life on Monday. I think I'm going to be sore until Easter.

You have to work up to it.

I had rather not. I prefer winter to hover in the 50-degree range.

That. I'm debating on if I should have worn shorts today instead of pants. evil grin

Clearly, you have a very smart wife who saves her shoveling muscles for dealing with the Snowpocalypse, rather than the piddling accumulation in that picture.

Yesterday's snowfall here in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts was all of an inch, and of the light and fluffy variety to boot. Snow displacement was accomplished via push broom.

Oh, she took that up at her mom's place at Christmas.

We had our snowpocalypse already. For the decade.

Since I've hurt my knee, my husband is doing all the shoveling, for which I am exceedingly grateful. I keep intending to take a picture of him doing it, but I'm not sure where my camera has gotten off to.

Oh, and Happy New Year.

Did someone call for a Rabbit?

And why is there icing sugar all over everything? Was there a terrible icing sugar truck accident nearby? ;)

Snowpocalypse! Wyntergeddon! Ragnaroknrol!

Oops. Started channeling Norse Metal band names there...

Hee hee hee.

Well done with the shoveling. :)

Thank you
